$2.00 per year, in advance

Record coal production in Alberta during 1923 is assured. The total for the year is expected to reach 7,000,000 tons in accordance with less than 6,000 last year. The payroll this year, it is anticipated, will be over $18,000,000.

Exports of baron from Canada to Great Britain increased almost 3,000,000 pounds during the first nine months of the present calendar year. For the same period of 1922 there were 70,988,000 pounds shipped to the British market as against 73,934,000 in that period of this year.

Greater progress in the future than has been attained will be made in the earnings of the Canadian National railways according to Mr. J. E. Dalrymple, vice-president in charge of traffic of the C.N.R., who stated in a recent interview that he did not believe that a net revenue of six million dollars for the eight months' period of this year could be regarded as the peak earnings. Traffic and business conditions generally are very good, Mr. Dalrymple said.

Large numbers of farmers, mechanics, servants, laborers and others, now resident in Northern Europe and notably Scandinavia, Finland and the Baltic States, are desirous of emigrating to the United States according to the plan of Lundbeck, and are waiting for the Swedish American steamship line, a Winnipeg visitor this week. Immigration restrictions in the United States are forcing these people who find they must seek better living and working conditions, to look to Canada as their future home, and a heavy movement during the coming year is anticipated. The Swedish American Steamship Line is endeavoring to have their S. S. Stockholm sail regular Canadian Pacific Westbound route Canada and Halifax. The Canadian National Railway.

A net operating revenue of Canadian National Railways in the eight months of the present year ending August 31, according to the official figures. During the same period of 1922, operations resulted in a net deficit of $1,166,098. For the week ending October 21 last gross earnings on Canadian National were $5,967,573, being an increase of $1,138,223, or 16 per cent over the corresponding week of 1922.

If we were asked the question: "On what can I spend this $2.00 bill that will give me the greatest value in comfort and immortality requirement?" We would say: "A Hot Water Bottle!" You remember what you said at some previous time, when some member of the family took a chill or a severe pain or probably only a toothache: "If I only had a Hot Water Bottle! I'll not get caught like this again!" $2.00 buys an excellent one at the Chauvin Pharmacy.

- (2)—Right Hon. David Lloyd George as he appears when speaking from the platform of the Canadian Pacific train.
- (3)—The engine that drew Lloyd George was the last word in mechanical construction.
- (4)—Mr. Lloyd George speaks to the citizens of Champlain.
- (5)—With his daughter Miss Mogan, J. J. Seely, General Manager of Canadian Pacific Eastern Lines, and other members of his party, Lloyd George admires the gasolinic scenery.

Picture a little clearing at the side of the railway track in the heart of North Ontario. All about are the hilly forests of Jack-pine, hemlock and flaming yellow poplar. A brilliant autumn sun falls on lake and forest, and every cliff and hillside is a patch of bearded grass surrounding the log cabin. At its door a woman and three or four sturdy children are grouped. They are listening. From behind the hills again comes the exultant whistle of a locomotive, and a train of passenger coaches sweeps past. It flashes past drawn by an engine of the latest type, such as engineers talk of with joy, and including six plum-colored coaches, steel built from end to end. Their varnished sides reflect the warm autumn sun. Bright windows gleam and the open windows glisten as the train sweeps along its path towards the West—a thing of pride and power.

The children standing beside the log cabin are silent; each holds a tiny flag that carries to the train a message of greeting, for David Lloyd George is passing by. The little Welshman of humble origin, the war-time Prime Minister of Imperial Britain is on his way from Toronto to Winnipeg and all along the railroad the people come down to see him pass.

It was a wonderful trip. Heralded by newspaper front pages and by years of power, the man who led half a world in war, moved across Ontario through scene after scene such as this which has been sketched above.

"What a country, what a wonderful country!" It was Lloyd George who spoke. Seated in the drawing room of the private car at the end of the train he gazed over the countless lakes and endless forests that flew past beneath him. Here and there one or two officials of the railway that carried him in that way, and a large number of newspaper representatives for whom accommodation was provided on the train. It was the time of the morning interview, when the press men gathered to ask him questions bearing on the news of the day which had come to the train by radio from all parts of the world, but mostly from Europe, and to exert

More grain is being delivered daily at the head of the lakes this month than during any previous month in the railways history, according to the announcements made by the Canadian National officials at Winnipeg.

9. An agreement between the Canadian Government, it is announced, which will remove the uncertainties regarding the importation of Canadian cattle to Great Britain, and, while not giving all that Canada asked, will improve the situation considerably with regard to the classification of fat cattle among stores going to Britain.

A party of 45 immigrants from the S. S. Andania, which reached Winnipeg this week over Canadian National lines, included the rearguard of 500 British girls who have emigrated to Canada this year. This party was in charge of Miss Vaughan-Jones of the Society for the Overseas Settlement of British Women, who stated that large groups of British Women would be brought to Canada next spring.

A distinct growth in the "winter Canada" feeding is noticeable in inquiries from people residing in prairie province cities at railway ticket offices according to officials of the Canadian National Railways. The majority of the inquiries are as to special fares to Ontario and Eastern Canada, and also to the Pacific Coast, as against a distinct movement out of Canada in previous years. The warmer climate of Victoria and Vancouver is drawing many people from the prairie provinces to the Pacific coast this year.

Canadian farmers, working under the auspices of the Canadian National Railways, are telling the facts about Canada to prospective British immigrants. The first of a series of lectures in Great Britain has been begun by A. T. King, an Alberta farmer.

A new market for British Columbia halibut has been found as the result of the first visit to Prince Rupert B. C., of Dr. Le Danois, superintendent of fisheries for the French government. Experiments are to be made in the shipment of frozen halibut direct from Prince Rupert to France and it is expected that from these an important trade will result.

(Experimental Farms Note)

The long winters on the prairies are periods during which breeding stock are kept under artificial conditions. The animals take much less exercise than during the summer and their rations, no matter how they are balanced, are usually lacking in some of the elements necessary to maintain a healthy condition.

The use of potassium iodide as a corrective for breeding females has been adopted by quite a number of feeders. During the past two years the iodide has been used on the Scott Station and during the past season has been fed to brood mares, barren cows, brood sows and pregnant ewes. Only small quantities of the drug are required so that the cost of the drug is not prohibitive. The price paid during the past season was $6.50 per pound.

In 1922 it was found that while the lambs from ewes rectiving the corrective showed no symptoms of goitre, 33 to 45 per cent of the lambs from other ewes were noticeably affected. Some of the lambs appeared to have the disease only to a slight extent while others were so badly affected but they were unable to persist in 1923. In the experiment was again repeated, and again none of the lambs from the iodine-fed ewes showed any signs of goitre, while in two of the lambs from the untreated ewes the goitre was noticeable in 1924 and 53 per cent of the lambs.

Very little trouble has been experienced with weak calves or bullfrogs here on the Station. The milk was given as a precaution. No trouble has been experienced in abortion in cattle resulting in sterility of some of the cows. These calves were fed potatoes and corn and also immediately after birth provided by a well known veterinarian.

WINTER RESORTS IN CANADA

MORE and more Canadians who spend their holidays in winter time are coming to realize that Canada offers pleasant surroundings for both winter and summer holidays. Photograph shows Parliament Building at Victoria, B.C., one of Canada's world famous garden cities, where many persons from other parts of the Dominion spend their winter holidays.

Feeding Correctives To Breeding Stock

METHODS OF FEEDING

The question of how often the animals should receive the potassium iodide, and for how long a period, are two problems that have to be solved, but the plan followed at Scott farm to commence to feed early in January and continue until April. The sheep were fed potassium iodide in their salt—for every 100 lbs of salt required, two pounds of potassium iodide were dissolved in the small amount of water and this was sprinkled over the salt after the latter has been thoroughly dried so as to take up the solution readily. A small quantity of the treated salt was kept before the ewes during the months intention. For other animals, potassium iodide was given in the feed mixed with the grain ration. For the mares and cows, one half-teaspoonful of potassium iodide was given each animal twice a month. For brood sows much less than this is sufficient. J. N. J. The Old Country For Christmas

The Canadian National Railways, as in previous years will again provide excellent through service to the seaboard for Old Country travel for this Christmas and New Year. Owing to the prospects for increased travel over last year, it has been decided to operate three through-sid special trains from Winnipeg to Halifax instead of the customary one special train, in addition to the regular sleeping cars, all of which will be put over to the ship side at port of embarkation, as follows:

Through sleeping cars from Vancouver, Edmonton, Calgary, Saskatoon, Regina and intermediate points, consolidating and operating as special trains.

First train from Winnipeg 7:00 p.m. Nov. 21st direct to ship side, Montreal, for sailing of S.S. "Regina", November 24th to Liverpool and S.S. "Antonia", November 24th to Plymouth, Cherbourg and London.

In addition to the above special through sleeping cars will be operated from Western cities direct to ship side for the following sailings: S. S. "Regina" and S. S. "Antonia", (Montreal), November 24th; S. S. "Doric" (Halifax), December 8th; S. S. "Pittsburg" (Halifax), December 14th, S. S. "Canada" (Halifax), December 15th; S. S. Some Leading Wheats Produced At Central Experimental Farm

The most noteworthy introduction of the Dominion Experimental Farms as far as wheat is concerned, is the variety Marquis which has become world famous in a very short time. In the year 1892, numerous crosses were made of our Canadian wheats with early wheats from India and Russia, with the result that Marquis these crosses, but it was not until 1903 that a pure line of selection was obtained. From then on, Marquis has gradually gained the ascendancy over all other wheats in the east, until today about 90 per cent of the wheat grown in Canada is Marquis. It is also worthy of note that 16 per cent of the wheat grown in the United States of America is Marquis. One Other wheat has a higher percentage than Marquis and that is Turkey, a winter wheat, that is grown in the majority of States. Of the spring wheats, however, Marquis is the first in popularity and leads all the spring wheats by about 8 per cent of the total wheat area of the States. In 1919 some twelve million acres of Marquis wheat were grown in the United States.

The Experimental Farms, always keeping in mind their objective of an early, high yielding wheat of good milling qualities, have been able to introduce other wheats of less commercial value but still of utmost importance for certain districts. Among these other wheats should be noted Ruby, Prelude and Huron. Ruby wheat is a wheat which ripens about eight to ten days earlier than Marquis and is, therefore suitable in districts where Marquis, in the average year, is a little too late. Ruby, however, is not as high yielding or of as good milling quality as Marquis, and should, therefore, only be grown in districts where Marquis is not a sure crop. The Prelude wheat is an extremely early wheat, suitable only for districts where the season is very early. Prelude will ripen about 10 days earlier than Marquis or four to eight days earlier than Ruby.

The above wheats are most adapted to western conditions, but it has been found that they give excellent results under eastern Canadian conditions, especially if grown in somewhat heavier soils. The cereal division, when considering its wheat work, has always kept in mind that Huron wheat was introduced for use in Eastern Canada on the lighter soils. Huron is a bearded wheat which gives good results on the meagre soils of Eastern Canada.

The introduction of the above wheats has financially meant a great deal to Canada. It has been computed by various persons that Marquis of Canada some $20,000,000 per annum. Apart from the financial aspect, the fact that eighty per cent of the wheat produced in Canada is Marquis is in itself a sufficient assurance that Marquis has been of great benefit to the Dominion.

Johnnie (pointing to minister): "Who's that, ma?"

"Hush, darling! That's the gentleman that married me."

Johnnie: "Then, of that's the gentleman that married you, what's he doing in our house?"

Sakers secured their second shipment of toys last week and there are more coming.

"Where is the man who keeps this restaurant?" asked a disgruntled patron.

"He's gone out to lunch," replied the waiter.

"The less a man says the more guessing his wife has to do."

It is not the common lot of man to get an uncommon lot.

Lady: "I suppose your wife misses you a great deal?"
Commercial Traveller: "Well, no; for a woman she has a remarkably straight aim."

LITTLE ADS DO GREAT WORK

Winter Housing Of Swine

(Experimental Farms Note)

In the prairie provinces considerable care in the housing of swine is usually necessary during the winter to prevent them from becoming stiff. This condition seldom becomes so serious that the pig cannot stand and in such cases it is seldom possible to save the animal. Perhaps the least care is required when a small number of pigs are sleeping at a straw pile. In guarding against the sufficing condition it is well to keep in mind the conditions found at the straw pile, namely a dry comfortable bed afforded by abundance of bedding, plenty of ventilation, shelter from the wind and a reasonable of exercise. If more than eight or ten pigs are together, they often slide up during cold weather, and those underneath become too warm and damp with steam, then when coming out to feed, suffer from the cold.

A great deal of money has been lost in feeding pigs for market during the winter months and the housing conditions are often responsible for the poor rains. At the Dominion Experimental Station at Scott, Sask., the well built pigsty having slatted ceiling and straw loft has been compared for several years with the portable cabin for winter housing, and invariably there has been trouble from stiffening in case of those kept in the pigsty, but seldom has there been any trouble among those sleeping in the cabin. Although the pigs in the cabin do not so well as those in the pigsty during the early part of the winter the difference is more than made up before spring and the pigs in the cabin show better results during the total period. The plan followed with the cabin is to bank it about half way to the top with straw and manure. The cabins used a present are 6 ft by 8 ft with three foot walls. The floor is made of two inch planks, and there are 4 by 6 studs underneath. However, for winter use, the "A" shape cabin having no floor, is reported by good authorities to be more satisfactory. The straw shed which is made by piling straw over a frame work of woven wire or poles is perhaps the best of all as well as the cheapest. The straw should be replenished each year. This is the method employed in housing the breeding stock at Scott. The sheds are usually approximately a hundred yards from the feed trough in order that exercise will be provided by coming to and from the shed. It is well to have the shed large enough to feed inside during the very cold weather. During such time very little exercise may be afforded by scattering some sheep oats in the shed occasionally. One sheep to five or six pigs is sufficient at one time.

Early spring pigs are often the most profitable but when coming during February or March a heated place for farrowing is usually necessary for best results. At Scott, a small shed is used in a room large enough for three farrowing pens and the stove. When the pigs are about two days old they can stand considerable cold weather and are moved to an outside shed or cabin to make room for other litters in the walf room. On the average farm a granary could be used for a farrowing room. The temperature should only be high enough to take the chill from the air, otherwise, the change when moving outside may be too great. This plan has been followed for sometime at Scott station with good results.

Harvesting WithoutTwine Or Stooking

During the Alberta harvest, members and officials of the provincial government, headed by Hon. George Howley, Minister of Agriculture, witnessed machinery in operation which harvests without binder twine or stooking. The exhibition took place on the farm of J. H. Hauser, of Killam, the inventor. Mr. Hauser uses an ordinary push binder with a 12-foot swath, cutting to a five- or six-inch stubble and laying the grain in windrows on this stubble. An extension attachment to the machine is dropped on the second round of the field to the level of the machine table thus running the grain from the second round out 24 feet, laying it on top of the first windrow. The grain dries perfectly by lying on top of the stubble. In threshing, Mr. Hauser has been using a loader with an elevator which runs along under the windrow and lifts the grain into the loader. By a patent arrangement the grain is unloaded from the loader at the separator in neat stacks. Mr. Hauser's plan is to perfect a combination of the loader and thresher, so interested is the government in Mr. Hauser's efforts to perfect his ideas and solve to a great extent the problem of harvest labor, that it is considering steps to assist him, and to procure the full benefit of his operations for his farms of Alberta.

The Very Mysterious Spot In The Sun

could be of no importance since the sun traverses the same apparent path annually; the day, June 17; the hour, 10 o'clock, and the minute, the twenty-fifth. In order words, if this were the true explanation, on June 17, at twenty-five minutes after 10 o'clock the position of the sun spot would mean something. It could not refer to 10 o'clock at night for an obvious reason.

It was early in April when Colonel Granville hit upon this possible explanation. Nearly two months of waiting would be necessary before the spot would reach a position corresponding with the date. The colonel, too impatient to defer investigation for what seemed to him so long a period, was eager to get a computer to come and calculate where the spot would be on the given day. But he knew of no one at hand who would be able to make the calculation. Besides, he had no desire to suffer the obloquy such an act would cast upon him, for when he stopped to think he was forced to admit that no more chemical idea could enter the brain of man.

So he was obliged to wait and while waiting planning an excuse for what he proposed to do. He determined to make a hole in the wall where the sun spot rested on the 17th of June at twenty-five minutes past 10 in the morning, and he proposed to tell the household that he was looking for a convenient location for a chimney he was thinking of building. Every day after that the colonel watched the movement of the spot with keen interest, and at the end of the month he could calculate pretty nearly where it would fall on the 17th of June. However, he waited till the date came round.

Now, on the 17th of June the sun stands very high, practically at the highest point during the year. Consequently the spot was at the lowest point. In fact, it rested on the floor. The colonel bored a hole in the floor, inclining it from the sextant to the point of the spot's contact, and inserting a tube, noted a place in the cellar where the line of vision prolonged would reach. Then one night when the household was asleep he went into the cellar with a lantern, a pick and a spade and began to dig.

He had cut through the cement bottom of the cellar and dug down exactly ten feet when he struck masonry. It was not very well put together, and he soon loosened the upper stones, coming to an open space. In this was an iron box or safe, such as was used many years ago. A blow of the pick knocked off the cover, and there lay a mass of gold coins. On the coins lay a paper, which Colonel Granville read. His idea derived from the letter written by his ancestor was correct. Here was a chest containing a mixture of English, Spanish and other gold pieces with a will bequeathing the treasure to found an institution for the amelioration of the negro race.

Colonel Granville replaced the earth over the treasure and left it to sink to the problem before him. Such a bequest coming from the original testator would be absorbed in legal technicalities. Besides, Granville would not like the notoriety attached to bringing out so many old coins—coins that he knew came from the price of slaves and probably the loot of piracy. He resolved to say nothing about this strange request, but to dispose of it piecemeal and erect in his own name the institution for which it was intended. This intention he carried out, and many a negro is now being educated with the money derived from the sale of his ancestors.

Hobby: "It's strange, but true, that the Negroes' souls have the most beautiful wives."

Wife: "Oh, you flatterer!"

Crate Fattening Of Chickens

The question of disposing of the surplus cockerels is becoming a more important one each year on the farm. It is only a question of a short time now until the poultry will be marketed on a grade basis in much the same way as other live stock. And why not? Producers of a high-class product suffer loss each year on account of the fact that the market does not discriminate between good and poor quality in poultry.

This brings us to the question of finishing the birds in order that they may go on the market in a first-class condition. There are two main methods, the open pen feeding and crate fattening. Of the two there is little question but that the latter is the better method and we will devote our remarks to it particularly.

The birds are confined to slatted crates about six feet long, eighteen inches wide and eighteen inches high. They are usually divided into three compartments, each one holding three or four birds. This latter will depend on the size of the birds. The size of the whole crate may be modified to suit conditions. The fattening should be done in as warm a place as is available. For convenience in cleaning it is well to have the crates raised from the ground about three feet.

Before placing the birds in the crates each individual bird should be thoroughly dusted with a good loose powder. It might be well to state at this point that it is only profitable to feed cockerels which are healthy.

The question of feed is an important one. However it is not necessary to buy expensive prepared feeds. The grains which are grown on the farm will be found very satisfactory. One of the best oats, ground very fine, cheap ground wheat or barley might also be added with good results. The ground grain should be mixed to a fairly thin paste with milk or buttermilk. If these are not available water could be used but the results will not be so good. The rate of rain and the quality of fleshing will be affected.

Feeding should be done twice a day at regular times. For the amount of feed a good rule to follow is this. Place the feed in the trough and allow the birds to eat for twenty minutes. At the end of this time remove the trough. Overfeeding is dangerous and results in loss of appetite and consequent loss of weight. It will not be necessary to water the birds if the feed is right.

The period of feeding will be from sixteen to twenty days, depending largely on the birds themselves. The cockerels should be starved for a day before killing. Stickling through the mouth and dry plucking is the approved method of handling before marketing.

A man who discovered that he was attending on a woman's train had the presence of mind to remark:—

"Though I may not have the power to draw an angel from the skies, I have pinned one to the earth."

She excused him

The arrival of twins at a flat one evening caused a great sensation, and the mother of the young mother was so impressed by the unexpected honor of being aunt to a pair that she lost her wits for the time being.

She rushed to the nearest post-office and asked for stamps so that she might spread the glad tidings. The clerk said affably, "How many, miss?"

"Two," she cried joyously.

"What?"

A boy and a girl," she said, then fled in dismay.

STUDEBAKER LIGHT-SIX

Studebaker's vast resources are utilized to manufacture (not assemble) the Light-Six complete in the newest and most modern large automobile plants in the world.

Resources, consisting of $30,000,000 of actual net assets, together with $45,000,000 of plants, make it possible for Studebaker to offer you a six-cylinder car, at less than $1500, that is emphatically superior in design, construction and performance to any car within hundreds of dollars of its price.

By complete manufacture, Studebaker not only guards the quality of each part, but saves the middle-man's profits, with the result that no other make of car ever built, by anyone, at any price, represents so great a dollar-for-dollar value as the Light-Six.

Evidence of its mechanical superiority is found in its practical freedom from vibration. This is accomplished by the perfect engine balance secured through machining the Light-Six crankshaft and connecting rods on all surfaces. This requires 61 precision operations. No other car in Canada selling for less than $3,500 follows this practise.

It is significant, therefore, that the sale of 18,820 Studebaker cars during the first six months of this year broke all records. Buyers are justified in expecting more for their money in a Studebaker than in any other car.

A family ticket costs $1.25 and will admit father and mother and all the children under 16 years of age to the picture show at Chauvin and Edgerton. The program for next week includes the following interesting items in a nine-reel program: "The Young Rajah," a Paramount picture, in which Rodolph Valentino appears at his best as a young Indian prince, brought up in America in ignorance of his origin. You will follow him through the strange tale of love and adventure that was ever written. Cast includes Wanda Hawley and Charles Ogle.

1923 Coal Products

The Chief Inspector of Mines recently announced that Alberta's coal production for 1923 had increased 1,500,000 tons over 1922. There have been increased shipments from Alberta to Manitoba, Ontario, British Columbia, Saskatchewan, and the United States. The big movement in the West is reflected in the increased amount of railway steam coal used in 1923.

GOOD CAUSE FOR THANKS

An old deacon, having occasion to spend a night at an hotel, was assigned a room containing three single beds, two of which already had occupants. Soon after the light was extinguished, one of those began to snore so loudly as to prevent the deacon from getting to sleep. The snoring increased as the night wore away until it became absolutely fearful. Some two or three hours after midnight the snorer turned himself in bed, gave a hideous groan, and became silent. The deacon supposed the third gentleman asleep, but at this juncture he heard him exclaim: "He's dead, Thank God. He's dead!"

HELPFUL SERMON

A bishop of the Methodist Church relates the following experience: After the service one Sunday morning he was approached by an old lady who expressed great appreciation of his discourse. "Why, bishop," she said, "you can never know what your sermon meant to me. It was just like water to a drowning man."

A Business Deal

An Aberdonian and a Yorkshirer met at a horse fair and adjourned to a near-by tavern. After several drinks the Aberdonian suggested that they should exchange ponies.

The Yorkshirer demurred, but after more liquid refreshment decided to trade.

"You know, Bill," said the man from Aberdeen, when the transaction was complete, "I think I've got the best of the bargain."

How's that?" asked his friend.

Well, my pony, said.

"Is that so," said the Yorkshirer.

"Well, so's mine, and I've taken it home."

BARBAROUS

For true barbarism you will have to go far to get one better than the paper-hanger's answer to the minister when asked on what day he could paper the manse.

"Well, sir," he said, "you see I'm rather busy now. I hung Mrs. Smith yesterday; I'm hanging one of your elders to-day; but if it is convenient, I'll drop round and hang you on Wednesday."
